

CBC TOURS HARTFORD HISTORIC ARCHITECTURE AND DISCUSSES HISTORIC PRESERVATION

HARTFORD, CT – The Connecticut Building Congress rode into Spring Tuesday night with an open top bus tour of Hartford’s architecture. The program highlighted the significance of historic preservation for the industry and it culminated with a discussion at Hartford’s historic Union Station.

Speakers included Helen Higgins, Executive Director, Connecticut Trust for Historic Preservation, William Crosskey, II, AIA, LEED AP, Principal, Crosskey Architects, LLC, James LaRosa, Chief Operating Officer, LaRosa Building Group, Brad Schide, Principal, Brad Schide LLC, and Circuit Rider, Connecticut Trust for Historic Preservation, Roy Gilley, AIA, Architect, Gilley Design Associates, Architects, Keith Czarniecki, Owner/President, Enterprise Builders. It was moderated by Stephen Connelly, Senior Vice President, Fuss & O’Neill EnviroScience.

Stephen Connelly was honored for his many years of contributing to CBC and the industry.

CBC will hold its annual Project Team Awards banquet on June 18th at the Bond Ballroom in Hartford. Registration is available at www.cbc-ct.org.

Follow us on Twitter @CTBuildingCong

Attached Photographs (please contact Rich Bergan for higher quality images):

CBC_May2013_BusTour – CBC members and guests enjoy a beautiful spring night atop a double decker bus as they view Hartford’s extraordinary architecture

CBC_May2013_S_Connelly – Stephen Connelly (right) receives official recognition from CBC President Ron Goodin (left)

CBC_May2013_UnionStation – CBC members and guests gathered in historic Union Station to discuss Historic Preservation

For Immediate Release – May 23, 2013

Contact: Rich Bergan
Marketing Chair
Connecticut Building Congress
raberger@berganwood.com
203.626.1717

Theresa Casey, FSMPS, CPSM
Executive Director
Connecticut Building Congress
cbc@cbc-ct.org
860.228.0163